Economy of Space to be a Feature Third Floor to be Devoted Entirely To Purposes of City Hall—Tower For Fire Bell.

If tentative plans now being drawn for the proposed new municipal buildinb to be erected by Charleroi borough upon the corner of Fourth street and Fallowfield avenue are carried out, the Charleroi building will be one of the most complete of its kind in any of the larger towns or smaller cities in the country. As now proposed the building will be a three story, brick structure, facing 56 feet on Fallowfield avenue and extending the full 100 feet from Fallowfield avenue to Long alley on Fourth street. Te estimated cost will be from $30,000 to $35,000, and the structure will be built this year.

There will be entrances on Fallowfield avenue, Fourth street and Long alley. The basement floor, opening on Long alley will be used for the street department and the heating plant. There will be public service stations for men and women built on the basement floor in the Fourth and Fallowfield corner, with entrance from the corner.

The first floor—will be one of the most important in the whole building. To the south side of the building the fire department will have their fire quarters, half of the first floor to be devoted to them. On the Fourth street side various offices will be located, including that of the tax collector and the burgess. The police headquarters and lockup will be located on the first floor to the rear and there will be eight cells for men and four for women.

On the second floor will be found the councilmanic chambers, most likely a room for the Business Men's Association, board of health rooms, an office for the borough engineer and library quarters and recreation room for the fire department.

The third floor will be devoted entirely to city hall purposes. Provisions will be made for the fire bell to be erected on a steel tower to the south side of the municipal building. There will be about seven feet ground space there available.

Mrs. Murray's clothing became inflamed from an open gas fire. She ran into an adjoining room, her screams attracting the attention of outsiders, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames by wrapping portiers about her. Then she was rushed to the hospital.

YOUNG FOREIGNER ON TRIAL NOW FOR MURDER

Frank Verdis Before the Court---Jury Secured Late Monday Afternoon For Hearing Important Case From Coon Island

Frank Verdis, a young foreigner, is on trial before Judge J. A. McIlvaine, on a charge of murder. He is alleged to have inflicted a fatal wound with a pick handle upon the head of Joe Babish, at Coon Island on September 7 last. The participants in the trouble were employed on the work of sinking the coal shaft at that point.

Babish died on the morning of September 8, shortly after 1 o'clock. A physician had been called, Dr. Knox, of Claysville, but before he reached Coon Island the man was dead. The physician made a hurried examination of the body, made some inquiries, but received no information that there was anything unusual in Babish's death, except it had been caused by alcoholism. Later his body exhumed from its grave, and investigations were followed by the arrest of Verdis.

It was after 4 o'clock before the jury was secured. Verdis was arraigned as is usual in a homicide case where a first degree verdict is asked. He entered a plea of not guilty. The jurors in the case are J. S. Allender, California; Lester W. Blayney, West Finley; G. N. Bable, Robinson township; M.L. Cook, Smith township; James Curran, Washington; C. S. Day, Morris township; William Evans, Charleroi; Hugh Paxton, Canonsburg; Steve Ross, Marianna; Robert Scott, Hanover township; W. R. Weirich, Canton township and Harry Young, Morris township.

A brother of the dead man was the first witness called by the commonwealth. He had identified the remains the day after his brother died.

WILD MAN HELD PENDING INVESTIGATION OF CASE

West Virginia Negro Who Terrorizes Washington Until Captured by Charleroi Policeman is Given Preliminary Hearing.

George Williams, the West Virginia negro who on last Thursday created a small sized panic when he ran amuck in the county court house at Washington and in the streets adjoining that building, will be kept under strict observation in the county jail for several days. Williams was Monday taken before Justice J. F. Carmichael for a preliminary hearing on a nominal charge of assault and battery. He was captured by Policeman Gus Brickner of Charleroi, on the day of his outbreak.

Officers who have had Williams in charge testified that in their opinion the man was mentally unbalanced. It was therefore decided to hold him in jail for further observation and it may be that a commission in lunacy will be asked to pass on his case.

Movement on Foot to Secure Large Stock of Rabbits, Quail and Other Game For Stocking Practically All of the County.

Fayette county will share in the distribution of 30,000 rabbits, as many quail and large quantities of Mongolian and English pheasants and wild turkey eggs, if the plans of the Fayette county branch of the Wild Life League materialize.

It is the plan of the Wild Life League to secure as much of this game for Fayette county as possible. YEAR 1915 MAY BE BANNER YEAR, SAYS U. S. STEEL HEAD

MOTION PICTURES OF CREATION AT M'DONALD ARE PROHIBITED

Burgess Pyles Gives Edict Banning Photoplays, Alleging Offense By Sideline Selling of Books.

Motion pictures of the Creation with phonographic explanation by Pastor Russell were manned at Lincoln hall at McDonald Sunday by edict of Burgess S. H. Pyles. The reason given was that while the actual showing of the pictures of the beginning of things was not a desecration of the Sunday the sale of the booklets pertaining to the display was an offense.

The photoplay representatives arrived to give the pictures as per announcement. Burgess Pyles immediately sent word that no display should be given. The moving picture men then went to him for a license which he did not grant. They averred that the pictures would be shown anyway, but a notice was posted to the effect that the show would not be given.

HIGH SCHOOLS HAVE DISPUTE

Monongahela and Charleroi May Sever All Athletic Relations

FAIR OBJECTION IS MADE

All athletic relations may be severed between Monongahela and Charleroi high schools as the result of a controversy over the first basketball game of the season to have been played the coming Friday evening on the Armory floor at Monongahela. The Charleroi team has declined to play at the Armory on the allegation that the floor is not arranged in accordance with the A. A. U. rules, by which according to contract the game was to have been staged.

Without any acrimonious dispute Prof. T. L. Pollock, superintendent of the Charleroi schools informed Prof. R. G. Dean, of the Monongahela schools Monday that the Charleroi team would not play unless conditions were changed.

At Armory hall the boundary lines are back of the location of the baskets. This is declared to be inconsistent with the A. A. U. rules which state the boundary lines must be located even with the baskets. This is the center of objection with Charleroi, and the only objection that will cause the local team not to play at the Armory floor under existing conditions. If conditions are changed satisfactorily then Charleroi will willingly play there.

Monongahela school authorities announced forthwith upon the notification from Prof. Pollock as to Charleroi's objections that they would favor the severance of all athletic relations with Charleroi. In addition, advice was issued to other schools in the county to cut Charleroi off their list.

Pittsburg Banquet Made Notable by Talk of President James A. Farrell

CHARLEROI PEOPLE HEAR HIM

Pittsburg Steel Men and Others From Vicinity Attend Thirty-Seventh Annual Banquet of Engineers at Hotel Schenley.

That the coming year should prove a year of great prosperity and that there will be an early resumption of all construction work in the Pittsburg district suspended last year on account of the industrial depression, were pointed statements of James A. Farrell, president of the United States corporation in a speech before an assemblage of 850 members and guests of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania at the thirty-seventh annual banquet of the organization at the Hotel Schenley in Pittsburg Monday evening. The banquet had optimism as its keynote. Several Charleroi and Monessen industrial men were present.

President Farrell said that the Steel corporation is planning for an early resumption of work in this district. This was the first news of this nature that had been given out officially and rapid industrial development may now be looked for. President Farrell prefaced his most notable statement by saying that every indication pointed to better times in the United States.

Others who spoke were Arnold Stucki, president of the Engineers Society; Dr. W. F. M. Goss of the University of Illinois; Dr. John A. Brashear and Sumner B. Ely, vice president of the Chester B. Albree Iron Works Company, who acted as toastmaster.

Among those present at the banquet from Charleroi and Monessen were Christopher J. Mogan, general superintendent of the Pittsburg Steel company; Assistant Superintendents D. F. King and A. Allison; Chief Clerk James S. Russell; P. S. Frazier, W. S. Greenawald, George Stahlnecker, William Wagoner, J. C. Parke, Jr., Harry Watt of the Pittsburg Steel company; Elmer C. Sattley, superintendent of the Page Woven Wire Fence company and John Huffman of the Carnegie Steel Hoop mill.

PROSPECTS FOR 1916.

A number of the leading Progressives of the country have responded to requests of the New York Sun to give their views on the probability of the amalgamation of the Republican and Progressive parties in 1916.

The consensus of opinion, of them, is that the thing can only be done by the adoption by the Republicans of a platform sufficiently Progressive to appeal to the voters of that party.

Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington, sums up his views in this paragraph:

"So far as the practical present situation is concerned the Progressive party has claimed all along to be the party of Lincoln Republicanism. It also favors a reasonable protective tariff. It believes that under existing conditions an active and powerful Federal Government is essential. For these reasons should there be no separate Progressive ticket, the great bulk of those composing the Progressive party would make their fight in the Republican party rather than in the Democratic party."

Charles Sumner Bird, late Progressive candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, says:

"If the old parties fail to see the importance of constructive and progressive legislation, a still further split will come and the Progressive movement, only temporarily delayed by present deplorable business conditions, will move on under the Progressive party's banner, or under the same leadership with another name."

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, gives this view:

"The result in 1916 is going to depend, first very largely, in fact almost entirely upon the business conditions of the country. It is unfortunate, but we have so mixed up business with politics, or, with apologies to the business men, politics with business, that an election depends largely upon the business conditions. You may smile now, but a new cloud has loomed up. In 1916 I would not be at all surprised to see the prohibition issue become a very dominant factor in that campaign."

George Aid puts it this way:

"The Progressive party will retain an organization until it can come to an honorable agreement with one of the old parties. Such an agreement would have to insure the genuine indorsement, on both sides, of the essential policies of the Progressive platform of 1912."

Medill McCormick of Illinois says:

"If the Republicans are willing to embrace the opportunity which the Democrats have neglected they must put forward a programme and nominate a Presidential candidate who will unite the opposition to the Democratic party."

Congressman Willis J. Hulings, of Venango county, concludes his screed in this language:

"The same old leaders are in the Republican saddle. Have they learned anything? If they resume their former arrogant disregard of the public will they ride to a fall, for the Progressive has not abandoned his 'dreams'; but if they make the party responsible to public sentiment the Progressive, who has never abandoned the Republicanism of Abraham Lincoln will find in a reformed and rehabilitated Republican party the realization of his 'dreams.'"

Fred E. Lewis, the other Progressive Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania, says:

"I firmly believe that after the chastising the 'standpat' leaders of the Republican party received when William Howard Taft was defeated two years ago the Republican party in 1916 will adopt a programme and nominate candidates both of which can and will be approved by the Progressive national convention, so that the great majority of the Progressives will again be found within the ranks of the progressive Republican party."

It may be safely predicted that a large number of the Progressive leaders still smarting under the stings of disappointed ambitions, will prefer revenge with hard times under Democratic rule to prosperity under Republican rule. But the rank and file of the voters, who have a living to make are going to vote the ticket that promises the most in the way of material prosperity to themselves and their families.

GOOD-BYE TO THE PEEK-A-BOO WAIST.

Fashion designers have decreed that the low-necked peek-a-boo shirtwaist shall give way to severer styles this spring and summer. The military spirit is now ruling the fashions. Hats formed on military models are already in the shops. Tailor-made suits have straight standing collars, are fastened with frogs, and miraculous dictu, have pockets with conspicuous flaps. But, on second thought, the remark about pockets must be modified. Perhaps the flaps are sewed on merely as simulations so as not to deprive women of the pleasure of carrying detached pockets, some times called bags, about with them in their hands, says the McKeesport News.

When the military influence extends to the shirtwaist its pervasiveness cannot be denied and when it is so powerful that it can induce young women with beautiful necks to hide their charms behind a straight standing military collor the advocates of peace must take to the woods in despair. The women are to end war. They abhor fighting, and they shriek when they hear a shell explode. But, also, they dearly love a uniform. The way they "fall for" brass buttons and gold braid makes every man who has to wear common clothes envious of the elevator boys, to say nothing of the drum majors and the brigadier generals. If the women will only be content with wearing feminine modifications of the habiliments of war, and smile on the civilians, the disappearance of the peek-a-boo waist will not be an unmixed misfortune.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

While John B. Schafer, the popular president of the Charleroi Business Men's Association was absent from the meeting room looking after preparations for a lunch at the last meeting of the association, something was mentioned concerning the proposed change of name for the association. John O. Watson, the vice president was in the chair, and it was suggested that inasmuch as President Schafer was not particularly "for" the change, it migh be a good idea to put through a motion while he was absent. Then somebody discovered that the proposition would have to be submitted in writing.

But a plot for a good joke was laid and the moment Mr. Schafer opened the door, he beheld M. T. Crowley upon his feet, and heard him say: "I move you that the name of this association be changed to Board of Trade." The motion was seconded without parley and there were several voices calling for the question while President Schafer stood non-plussed at the door, almost gasping for breath.

Just in time he collected his wits, and announced excitedly and pointedly: "You can't do that. You have to put that in writing. I——!"

Then the members present enjoyed a good laugh at his expense.

According to a story by C. C. Suter, manger of Berryman's store, a young man applied for a "job" on a western farm. Asked as to his qualifications, he replied that he was a pretty good runner and had taken records during his college course.

"All right, I'll hire you," said the farmer, "and the first thing I want you to do is to bring in the sheep." The youth left on his errand, returning in due time to report.

"Did you have much trouble with the sheep?" queried the farmer, who marveled at the short time the youth was gone.

"No, not with the sheep, but some with the lambs."

"Lambs, You're crazy!" exclaimed the farmer, "I have no lambs."

Then he went to see and found quartered with the sheep six jack rabbits.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP THE MATTER OF ROADS

Bricking of Two County Highways Considered—Favorable Reports Made by Petitioners and Body Goes Into Secret Session.

The grand jury Monday afternoon took up the consideration of the proposed improvement, by bricking of two county roads. The petitions were laid before them, upon petition of the county commissioners and the order of court.

The roads are the Pleasant Grove road, in South Franklin township and the Buffalo road. The Pleasant Grove road begins at the Plank road, near the residence on the Hiram McClain place, and extends through South Franklin township for a distance of 14,428.7 feet. It is estimated that this improvement, including ten per cent for incidentals, will cost $64,227.35.

The improvement on the Buffalo road will begin at the western end of the Washington-West Middletown improved road, and extend in a northerly direction for a distance of 5,910 feet, to the intersection with the state road. The road is in Hopewell township. It is estimated that this road, including ten per cent for incidentals will cost $24,810.70.

The grand jury inquired very thoroughly into the question of the county's condition for further road building, the policy being pursued in the matter of road building, cost, percent of taxes used for road improvement, etc. Following the public meeting, at which those favorable to the road presented what in their opinion, made the highways important ones, the grand jury went into secret session and there fully discussed the matter. No action was taken when they adjourned.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, one of the foremost of living medical men, formerly of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and now Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1892), on page 249:

"The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacilli have been found. . . . In the granulations produced and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

Many eminent medical authorities have testified to the efficacy of lime salts in the treatment of tuberculosis and the success of Eckman's Alterative in this and allied throat and bronchial affections may be due partly to the fact that it contains a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Widespread use in this remedy in numerous cases of tuberculosis, many of which appear to have yielded completely to it—justifies our belief that it is worth a trial, unless some other treatment directly is suggested to you. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. We make no promises except that we are sure that reputable physicians give no cases with their prescriptions but we know of many cases in which IT HAS HELPED.

WAR BULLETINS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The President and his cabinet today are discussing the German notification of the dangers to which neutral ships may be subjectel in war zones around Great Britain and Ireland, and the use by the British steamer Lusitania of the American flag. The subjects are delicate ones that will be dealt with carefully.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—No hostile action against neutral shipping will be made by Germany, the naval measures of Germany against Great Britain in no sense being a blockade.

London, Feb. 9.—The most striking feature of the European war at present is the unexpected adoption of offensive operations in Poland by Russia after some German troops have apparently been withdrawn to the north and south.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—Plans for the capture of Warsaw still are being pushed.

London, Feb. 9.—The situation in Flanders and in France is without change, armies maintaining successfully their present positions. News such as is filtering in would lead one to suppose that there is only the most desultory fighting.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9.—"Safety first." is the slogan of 11 of the crew of the Dacia, enroute to Rotterdam, who quit her last night.

STEWARD GIVES BAIL FOR VIOLATING PAROLE

L. D. Cornell, of California Must Appear in Court on Serious Charge in Connection With Liquor Case From California.

A sequel to the prosecution of a number of the stewards of clubs of the county, which conduct sideboards, was the arrest of L. D. Cornell, steward of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, of California. He was served with a bench warrant by Deputy Sheriff George W. Hornbake at the instance of District Attorney R. G. Miller.

The warrant was issued upon information given the district attorney and sworn to by Officer H. B. Lake, of California, to the effect that Mr. Cornell had violated the conditions of the parole imposed on him at the May term of 1914.

At that time, when a number of stewards were under prosecution for violation of the liquor laws in dispensing drinks at their different clubs, they were released upon parole. The conditions imposed were very severe.

Officer Lake avers that Mr. Cornell furnished liquor to W. A. Roberts of California, a man of known intemperate habits, after being notified not to do so by Officer Lake; furnished liquor to others than members of the California Lodge of Eagles; sold beer and whiskey at a profit, viz., ten cents a glass for whiskey and ten cents for a pint bottle of beer; sold to members of the lodge when they were in an intoxicated condition and sold to members whose families are in needy circumstances.

All these are violations of conditions that were imposed in the parole granted to Mr. Cornell. Mr. Cornell went to Washington Monday afternoon and gave bail for court. Dr Yarnell, California, went his security.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST JAIL EXTRAVAGANCE TO BE WAGED

State Board of Charities Framing Measure to be Presented Shortly to the Legislature.

A determined campaign against extravagance of all kinds in the management of county jails has been decided upon by the State Board of Charities, of wich Francis J. Torrance of Pittsburg is president. A bill is being drafted by Judge Isaac Johnson of Delaware county, a member of the State Board of Charities, and will be introduced in the legislature probably next week which is expected to remedy many evils. It is declared that gross delinquencies have resulted from the system by which the management at county jails has devolved upon sheriffs of many counties and as the result of the short tenure of office of such officials the temptation to take advantage of opportunities to make money through the per capita charge for the care of prisoners, has led to grave charges. Such sheriffs, it is declared, put relatives or favorites in charge of jails and missed no chance to profit by a loose and reprehensible system.
